Hi J- when you get a chance, let's set up mtg with Bill Bjork and other NEA folks - Anchorage would be most convenient - I just ran into Abby Kellner-Rode and she says you should have info re: the NEA persons who'd like to meet. Next week has times available it looks like.

Also, I'm doing another bird release thing tomorrow - is supposed to be at Potters Marsh again, after church. Pls note on sched when u get a chance. Thanks!

Amen.

ADN won't print if it runs anywhere else, so we submit there first then send to all other after ADN committs to running it on a certain date. Thanks!

Ok sounds great. I've tweaked some verbiage to get it down to 675 words, but still need the dollar amount plugged in... then I'm assuming all is well with it and it's good to go. It's written simply, bc too many people are saying they just don't understand how a fiscal conservative could propose "taxing" industry. I had to explain the difference between taxing and sharing value of our oil. I did keep it simple, purposefully.

Thanks- and really they don't have to go through you to communicate all this! All I need is another set of eyes to look at my op-ed and correct anything that needs correcting. They can email me directly and then we move on to the next issue. It'll save a lot of time and then you can get on with your Saturday.

Again, others can pen op-eds to include additional info for the public, including Sean, Anthony, etc.

Subject: Re: Op ed

I emailed the editor last night to ask "when". i anticipate he'll say "now".

The additional info that needs to be included in an op-ed may have to written into someone else's op-ed, like one from Galvin or Tom... my 675 words are all that's allotted by adn. Dr Anthony Scott may be one to pen a follow-up op-ed also.

Instead of waiting any longer, at least my op-ed needs to get out there asap... we can't "over strategize" our points, meanwhile sitting on our points that the public needs to hear. Mine is purposefully simple because that's what's been missing in our public talking points so far.

So- hopefully I'll hear back today (between my events) any short suggested edits coming from the team, and I'll need that $ amt plugged in to the piece, then it's out the door with everyone's short suggestions on how to make the piece better. Waiting a week to have something published after a big announcement is really pushing it - so we won't wait longer than we already have.

Sean also has offered to pen an op-ed. Maybe his could include whatever additional points you guys came up with that can't fit into my 675 word piece. Thanks!

Thanks so much for the invitation to your home for dinner. We were really looking forward to watching Bristol's game and seeing you guys! By the time we got in and got a rental car it was already about 8 o'clock. AK Air and mechanicals-ugh!

Kaitlin was sad/disappointed, she was especially looking forward to seeing Piper and Willow.

The fball team usually stays at the HS gyms, but they found a really cheap hotel in Palmer (Moose something..?) so they splurged.

Hopefully we'll see the girls (maybe you too) at the game today!
